WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, March. 19 .- The Senate is to have an opportunity to vote on the Porto Rico tariff without outside complications, as Senator Foraker asked for and obtained vote of the Senate re-committing his bill providing a civil form of government for the island, to the Committee, in order that an attempt may be confessing and turning State's evimade to pass the House bill levying a duty of 15 per cent on Porto Rican products. Whether that can be done is a question upon which there are two decided opinions. It is understood that the votes to pass the bill have been pledged, but the republican Senators who favor free trade have threatened to filibuster to prevent a vote being reached on the bill. Conferences are still going on and some agreement may be reached. Meanwhile, the money which has been collected under the Dingley tariff is available for public use in Porto Rico, and Gen. Davis has been directed to freely use it.
